

SOP for Recruiters

2.1 Role Objective

The Recruiter's job is to fulfil a school/institution's staffing requirement end-to-end: understand the requirement accurately, source and screen matching candidates, present them to the client, coordinate the interview and offer process, and ensure a successful joining — while keeping every step logged in the shared tracker.

2.2 Daily Workflow (Start to End of Day)

Phase 1: JD Handover & Assignment

- The JD is handed over to the recruitment team.
- The main Recruiter reviews the JD and assigns it to a specific recruiter.

Phase 2: Candidate Sourcing

- The recruiter starts sourcing candidates based on the following priority sequence:
 - Priority 1: Internal Database
 - Priority 2: Job Portals
 - Priority 3: Professional References
 - Priority 4: WhatsApp, LinkedIn, and Telegram Groups
 - Priority 5: Active Advertisements

Phase 3: Screening & Interaction

- The telerecruiter verifies candidate interest, availability.
- The recruiter conducts a first-hand interaction to gather detailed information.
- Maintain a client-specific Excel log with headers aligned to the JD questionnaire.

Phase 4: Client Submission & Interviews

- Share sanitized resumes with the client (replacing candidate contact info with agency details).
- Send the candidate to the client with an interview letter and formal email format.
- Follow up with the client for shortlisting and manage candidate communication.

Phase 5: LOI sharing

- An LOI can be shared with the candidate upon hiring.

Post-Selection (BD Responsibility)

- The BD maintains an Excel tracker with the following headers:
 - Joining Date
 - Invoice Raised
 - Payment Follow-up & Status
 - Payment Received

Database and Tracker Discipline

- Every candidate interaction (call, message, email) is logged the same day, not batched.
- No candidate data is kept in a personal notebook, personal WhatsApp-only chat, or personal phone contact list as the "only" record — the tracker is always the source of truth.

Daily and Weekly Reporting Format

Recruiters submit an End-of-Day Report in the tracker with the following fields — the same format for everyone, so no one's work is judged on inconsistent information.

Dos and Don'ts

- Do confirm every requirement detail in writing before sourcing.
- Do log every interaction the same day.
- Do route all client communication through the designated account owner.
- Don't promise a candidate a salary or joining date the client hasn't confirmed.
- Don't work a requirement that isn't assigned to you without written reassignment.
- Don't resolve an ownership dispute informally — always route it through Section 7.

Escalation Path

Every dispute — ownership, target disagreement, data conflict, or client-related issue - to be discussed with the reporting Manager.

If, not solved, will be discussed with the Director.
